

Wills+Martin Consulting Firm Opens in Fort Worth, Texas

Wills+Martin, a new women-owned consulting firm, will launch in Fort Worth on _____. Through strategic partnerships, Wills+Martin offers end-to-end business advisory services for companies of all sizes to achieve business goals.

“At Wills+Martin, we’re combining decades of leadership experience and a people-first philosophy to help companies reach goals that truly count,” stated Elizabeth Martin, co-founder of Wills+Martin.

“Our approach integrates our professional backgrounds and working knowledge of organizational psychology, business development, marketing and communications, negotiations, and law experience,” according to Elizabeth Wills, “We’ve seen how strategy paired with empathy drives lasting change.”

Together, Wills and Martin combine years of cross-industry executive leadership, PhD-based transdisciplinary blend of knowledge, and proven business transformation success. Their decades of corporate experience spans strategy, operations, organizational health, communications, and law. Both Wills and Martin’s leadership background include senior roles at Optum Health and The Change Agents Management Consulting.

Both founders have deep roots in Fort Worth. Martin represents the legacy of the Laneri family, founders of O.B. Macaroni Company in 1899, whose entrepreneurial and philanthropic influence has long contributed to the city’s growth. Wills’ family history also reflects Fort Worth’s spirit of entrepreneurship—her grandfather founded Wills Electric in the 1940s, later led by her father and brothers.

Wills+Martin builds on this legacy of leadership and innovation, partnering with organizations to drive strategic growth and transformation.

For more information, visit willsandmartin.com.

About Wills+Martin

(do you want to add this to the end- do we have one already or should I use the website or just write one?)